Steps Necessary For Local Self-Government

Office of CITY ATTORNEY
CITY OF SAN DIEGO

SAN DIEGO, CALIFORNIA, NOV. 18, 1935

Mr. H. H. Hartvigsen, Secretary,
Ocean Beach Chamber of Commerce,
Ocean Beach, California.

Dear Sir:

Your letter of November 16th requesting information as to the procedure necessary to exclude your portion of the City from the City of San Diego has been referred to me for attention. You are advised that the General Laws govern in cases of this nature, and the law applicable thereto is Act No. 5160, at page 2586, Vol. 2, General Laws of State of California. This act provides as follows:

"EXCLUSION OF TERRITORY AND CHANGING BOUNDARIES OF MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS. The boundaries of any city or municipal corporation may be altered, and territory excluded therefrom after proceeding had, as required in this section. The council, board of trustees, or other legislative body of such corporation, shall upon receiving a petition therefor, signed by not less than a majority of the qualified electors thereof, as shown by the vote cast at the last municipal election held therein, submit to the electors of such corporation the question whether such territory as is proposed by such petition shall be excluded from such municipal corporation and cease to be a part thereof.

Such question shall be submitted at a special election to be held for that purpose, and such legislative body shall give notice thereof by publication in a newspaper printed and published in such corporation for a period of four weeks prior to such election. Such notice shall distinctly state the proposition to be submitted, and shall designate specifically the boundaries of the territory so proposed to be excluded. And the electors shall be invited thereby to vote upon such proposition by placing upon their ballots the words 'For exclusion,' or 'Against exclusion,' or words equivalent thereto: such legislative body shall also designate the place or places at which the polls will be opened in such territory so proposed to be excluded, which place or places shall be that or those usually used for that purpose within such territory, if any such there be, and for the purposes of this act, the qualified electors residing in the territory proposed to be excluded shall be entitled to vote at the polls in such territory, and not elsewhere. Such legislative body shall also appoint and designate in such notice the names of the officers of election. Such legislative body shall meet on the Monday next succeeding the day of such election, and proceed to canvass the votes cast thereat.

The votes cast in such territory so proposed to be excluded shall be canvassed separately, and if it shall appear on such canvass that a majority of all the votes cast in such territory, and a majority of all the votes in such corporation, shall be for exclusion, such legislative body shall, by an order entered upon their minutes, cause their clerk, or other officer performing the duties of clerk, to make and transmit to the secretary of state a certified abstract of such vote, which abstract shall show the whole number of electors voting in such territory, the whole number of electors voting in such corporation, exclusive of such territory, the number of votes cast in each for exclusion, and the whole number of votes cast in each against exclusion, and a certificate of the filing of such document in his office shall be by the secretary of state submitted forthwith to the clerk, or other officer performing the duties of clerk of the legislative body of such municipal corporation, and to the board of supervisors of the county in which such municipal corporation is situated.

From and after the date of filing such abstract, such exclusion of territory from such municipal corporation shall be deemed complete, and thereafter such territory shall cease to be part of such municipal corporation; provided, that nothing contained in this act shall be held to relieve in any manner whatsoever any part of such territory from any liability for any debt contracted by such municipal corporation prior to such exclusion; and provided, further, that such municipal corporation is hereby authorized to levy and collect from any territory so excluded, from time to time, such sums of money as shall be found due from it on account of its just proportion of liability for any payment on the principal or interest of such debts. Such assessment and collection shall be made in the same manner and at the same time that such assessment and collection is levied and made upon the property of such municipal corporation for any payment on account of such debts; and provided, further, that any such territory so excluded from any municipal corporation may at any time tender to the legislative body of such municipal corporation the amount for which such territory is liable, on account of such debts and after such tender is made, such authority as is herein given such municipal corporation to levy and assess taxes on such excluded territory shall cease; provided, however, that after an election shall have been held for the exclusion of any portion of a municipal corporation, if the vote shall be against exclusion of the same territory shall again be held within three years from the date of such former election. (Amendment approved April 22, 1927; Stats. 1927, p. 421.)"

Yours very truly,

Wm. Roy Ives,
Deputy City Attorney.

School Bond Election Dec. 10th For Rehabilitation Buildings

The special election called by the Board of Education for Dec. 10th when the voters of San Diego are to decide whether or not they shall take advantage of an offer of Federal funds to be used in the strengthening and reconstruction of the schools of our city. The exact offer of the Federal government is to put up 45 percent for 55 percent to be put up by San Diego. Since a special committee from the local Architects Association has estimated that $4,185,000 is necessary to correct all weaknesses and known earthquake hazards from our schools, it leaves nearly $2,500,000 to be provided by San Diego and $2,000,000 as a gift from the Federal Government.

Naturally the voters, realizing that it will be their tax money that must go to make up San Diego's $2,500,000 share of the expense, will be interested in knowing whether or not such an expenditure is necessary so a few vital points should be considered before the ballots are cast at the school polls.

A survey was recently completed of all San Diego school buildings by engineers from the State Division of Architecture at a cost of slightly over $13,000 disclosing that the general condition of the buildings is as good or better than average for California school systems, but that there are structural weaknesses in practically all of San Diego's school buildings which makes them liable to severe damage or collapse in case of a major earthquake shock such as the Long Beach earthquake in 1933 in which more than 120 people were killed and where the death rate would have been shockingly higher if it had not been for the fact that schools were closed for the day.

It is very important for the voter to realize the fact that the school district and the taxpayers will be liable for injury or loss of life incurred from buildings which may collapse because of known structural weaknesses. The fact remains too that any severe earthquake shock would probably result in such a collapse of buildings so it is well to study further on the subject of earthquakes.

Nearly all earthquakes are caused by slipping along a dividing fracture or fault. In Southern California the region from the Mojave Desert to beyond the off-shore islands is traversed by a series of active faults. In general these faults are from 5 to 20 miles apart and apparently extend to depths of 15 or more miles below the surface of the earth. It is not possible to make definite predictions as to either the time at which an earthquake will occur or as to the intensity and duration of a future shock.

San Diego is not located on an active fault line but the San Andreas, Elsinore, Inglewood, and other faults which are recognized as among the most potentially dangerous in the entire Coast area are located not very far to the north and east, while other active fault lines are found in Imperial Valley and in many other places in Southern California. It is well to understand also that the area of greatest intensity, as pointed out by Dr. Robert A. Milligan of the California Institute of Technology, may not be on a fault line but many miles away from it. The center of the Long Beach earthquake was actually several miles out to sea.

RECONSTRUCTION PROGRAM

Here is what the reconstruction program provides for the Ocean Beach grammar school, Loma Portal grammar school and Pt. Loma Junior-Senior high school, the data being taken from the report of a survey made by the State Division of Architecture.

Ocean Beach School, 4741 Santa Monica Ave.;

Children enrolled, 576, teaching staff, 15

Reconstruction work required:

Since a replacement program has been started at Ocean Beach and since the remaining old buildings of the plant are of doubtful permanent value, a replacement program is recommended at an estimated cost of $45,000.

Loma Portal School, 3341 Browning St.;

Children enrolled, 267, teaching staff, 9

"Lateral forces, such as are produced by major seismic disturbances would seriously overstress the hollow tile bearing walls of this building and would probably cause extensive damage to the structure. The unsatisfactory resistance properties of walls constructed of hollow clay tile, and of hollow concrete tile blocks under the action of lateral forces, have been demonstrated by numerous failures in recent major earthquakes." (Extract from report of State Division of Architecture.)

Reconstruction work required:

The present masonry walls of this school will have to be replaced so as to function as vertical resisting elements, and it may be found expedient to convert this building into a properly braced wood frame structure. Suitable bracing will be necessary in the floor and roof. Rigid connections between the various members of the resisting system will be necessary, and a definite path provided for the induced lateral forces from the floor and roof construction through the walls and the foundations to the ground.

Estimated cost, $24,000.

Pt. Loma Junior-Senior High school, 2355 Chatsworth Blvd.

Number of children enrolled, 1135. Teaching staff, 50.

Reconstruction work required: Main building. Installation of suitable bracing for the roof and floor framing. Reinforcement or replacement of the present defective masonry walls with construction having desirable lateral force resisting properties. The irregular shape of this structure is such as to complicate the problem of reconstruction—in this case, of a highly desirable transformation—as the change in the height of the sections and in their orientation changes their resistance characteristics where differing sections abut and will probably cause serious damage at such points during earthquakes. Estimated cost, $155,000.

Auditorium building. Installation of suitable longitudinal trusses in the plane of the roof extending between and attached to the reinforced concrete beams at the top of the front wall, the lobby wall and the proscenium wall. Proper bracing between roof trusses and concrete walls. Bracing of transverse walls. Attachment and bridging of roof and ceiling joists to roof trusses, also alteration of the framing which supports the inclined ceiling adjacent to the proscenium wall. Hollow tile partitions must be removed or strengthened. New reinforced wall at the end of the shop to brace the side walls against lateral forces. New wall must be separated from the old building. Removal of shop storeroom which abuts both buildings. Estimated cost, $20,000.

Labor Commissioner Stanley M. Gue addressing a meeting held Friday afternoon at the Ocean Beach grammar school emphasized that the passing of the bonds by a two-thirds majority would mean

Bayview Exchange Will Have Dial Telephones

Miss Pussy is examining one of the new dial telephones that subscribers of Bayview exchange will use next year when the new telephone building now under construction on Chatsworth Blvd., has been finished and new telephone equipment installed. The Southern California Telephone Co., report that the changeover to new quarters and dial phones will not be made until the summer of 1936.

Hollywood Woman Buys Lots For Seven-Unit Modern Court

Maria Smith of Hollywood this week bought four lots on Voltaire street near Abbot street, Ocean Beach, and is going to build a seven-unit modern court in the early spring. The courts will be furnished up-to-date throughout, even to electric refrigeration. "Looks like 1936 will be another good year for construction at Ocean Beach as many lots are changing hands."

Says Newport Avenue Would Build Up At Once If Building Restrictions Modified

Ocean Beach, Calif., November 23, 1935

Dear Editor: The letter in recent issue on the fire zone question would be more convincing if the writer had signed his name. Writers of unsigned letters generally have an ax to grind or are striving to throw a monkey wrench into the machinery of the other fellow. In all probability, the writer owns property on Voltaire street or has a building in the Newport avenue fire zone, which will suffer if newer and better buildings are put up in case Newport avenue is taken out of this zone, which has throttled all building since it has been in force.

All progressive citizens of Ocean Beach would like to see better buildings put up in the business section, but if the owners of tumble-down shacks and vacant lots have not the money to make the more expensive improvements, which the ordinance calls for, is it not an injustice to these heavily taxed property owners to prevent them from building according to their means?

The writer personally knows of at least five buildings not brick, or stone that will be put up if this ordinance is lifted. Construction will be high-grade frame and stucco—one a business building and the others, four and five room stucco and tile bungalows. Would it not be better to put up buildings of this type than to let lots lie idle for years and finally be taken in by the state for taxes? This is being done now.

A few days ago I sold two lots all free and clear in the fire zone for a total price of $400. Penalties on this property were $300 and all the owner of the lots received was $100. Another property owner with two lots within half a block of the post office, has had his lots on the market for a sale price of $500. They cost $2000. He can not sell at any price. Why? Because people wish to build homes on these lots and do not and can not build them of brick, but would build stucco bungalows if allowed.

The writer of this letter lives in an old tumble-down shack, not because he wants to but because when he applied for a permit to put up a $4500 stucco bungalow, he was told he could continue to live in the old shack, but that he could not put up this stucco bungalow because it was not to be constructed of brick or stone. I told them I would continue to occupy the shack till it fell down before I would build of brick. You get the minimum of safety in a brick building, while in a frame stucco your safety is assured in case of earthquake. If you doubt this statement, get a report on the Helena disaster.

Now, forgetting what I have written above, consider this: Since this district has been placed in this highly restricted zone, NOT ONE BUILDING HAS BEEN ERECTED—yes, believe it or not, the street is dead and the majority of the owners are letting their lots go back to the state.

If this condition is to be remedied, it is absolutely necessary to remove these foolish restrictions. No one is going to build any more shacks—the shacks are already there. This fire zone ordinance keeps them there and will continue to do so until it is revoked or rescinded.

Devereaux.

Sanctions Against Italy Now in Effect

SOMETHING new under the sun is now being tried out—an economic war to put a stop to a military war. Fifty-two nations are united in the imposition of sanctions against Italy, which became an outlaw nation on November 18 by decree of the League of Nations. Four league nations, all unimportant, refused to participate. They are Austria, Hungary, Albania and Paraguay. Indirect support is given the league by two non-member nations, the United States and Germany. Nearly all the world's chief ports are closed to Italian goods, and exports to Italy of arms, war materials and a long list of key products has stopped. Loans and credits for the Italian government, public bodies, corporations and individuals are forbidden.

Should this momentous action succeed, it would seem that the end of Benito Mussolini and the Fascist regime in Italy is in sight. Should it fail, the League of Nations falls, the British communications in the Mediterranean would be threatened, and the peace of the world would be menaced.

Standing steadfast against the sanctions, Premier Mussolini proclaimed the day on which they were established "a day of ignominy and iniquity," as had been declared by the Fascist grand council. The day was made a holiday, flags flew from all buildings and there were numerous angry demonstrations against the member nations of the league. The frontiers of Italy and its ports were closed to goods of those nations except for certain necessities. Restrictions of food, fuel and light were put in force.

As for the Ethiopian war itself, Mussolini announced an important change in commanders. Gen. Emilio de Bono was recalled with warm praise for having achieved his mission "under extremely difficult circumstances" and was to be elevated to the rank of marshal. Gen. Pietro Badoglio, chief of staff, was appointed to succeed De Bono as commander in chief of the invading armies.

The Italian forces in northern Ethiopia were preparing for a new forward movement, their objective being Amba Alaji, 40 miles south of Makale. It was learned that Emperor Haile Selassie had sent to his men in that region an order not to retreat further, so there were prospects of a real battle. Ten thousand well trained and well armed warriors from the rich province of Wallega arrived at Addis Ababa to fight the Italians.

Treaty With Canada Is Made Public

AMERICAN business generally is pleased with the terms of the new trade treaty with Canada, made public simultaneously in Washington and Ottawa. Farmers and the lumber men of the northwest will not like it. High tariff advocates in congress are sure to attack the pact, but its terms cannot be affected for three years, even were congress to repeal the reciprocal trade act under which President Roosevelt acted in negotiating the agreement. It is considered a trade agreement rather than a formal treaty, and goes into effect January 1 next.

Government officials, foreseeing adverse reaction in some quarters because of some of the sliced American duties, sought to show the pact would lead to greatly increased trade and employment which would benefit the country.

President Roosevelt stressed that while duties were lowered on Canadian cattle, cream, seed potatoes and certain kind of lumber, quotas placed on these articles would prevent serious interference with the American market.

An analysis of the pact shows that the United States grants concessions to Canada on 79 major commodities, including:

Tariff slash on four-year-old whisky from $1 to 50 cents per fifth of a gallon.

Reductions in duties on specified quotas of beef cattle (from 3 to 2 cents per pound on animals over 700 pounds); dairy cows (2½ to 1½ cents); cream (56.3 cents to 35 cents per gallon); white or Irish seed potatoes (75 to 45 cents per 100 pounds); Douglas fir and western hemlock (50 per cent).

Reduced duties on lumber and timber of other kinds; cheddar cheese, turnips, apples, hay, maple sugar, live poultry, horses, halibut and some other fish; some leathers and ferro-manganese.

A pledge to keep on the free list Canadian pulpwood, newsprint, unmanufactured wood, shingles, lath, lobsters, certain furs, crude asbestos, artificial abrasives and fertilizers.

A promise to maintain the present 10 per cent duty on feedstuffs for animals.

On the part of Canada the duties are cut on 180 commodities, some of the leading concessions being: Reduced tions on wheat (from 30 to 12 cents a bushel); off-season fresh vegetables (50 per cent); vegetables imported in marketing season (35 per cent); most classes of farm machinery (50 per cent); industrial machinery (35 to 25 per cent); mining and textile machinery; radios (30 to 25 per cent); electric refrigerators; tinplate manufactures; dressed lumber; building materials; motor vehicles; cotton fabrics, furs, chemicals, silk fabrics, cotton manufactures, electrical apparatus.

Also rate cuts on oranges, grapefruit, nuts, iron and steel manufactures.

Place magazines and potatoes on the free list.

A pledge to grant the United States, on 707 articles, the lowest rates paid by any non-British country.

A promise to seek legislation to permit Canadians visiting the United States to carry $100 in American goods duty free back to their homes each month.

A pledge to liberalize the system of establishing arbitrary valuations on American products.

A promise to keep raw cotton on the free list and to put tractors on that list.

United States Will Not Interfere in Mexico

REQUESTS made by the Knights of Columbus that the United States government make an investigation of alleged religious persecution in Mexico have been denied by President Roosevelt in a rather sharply worded letter to Supreme Knight Martin H. Canady. Mr. Roosevelt said:

"I decline to permit this government to undertake a policy of interference in the domestic concerns of foreign governments and thereby jeopardize the maintenance of peaceful conditions."

Baldwin's Government Wins Elections

PRIME MINISTER STANLEY BALDWIN and his Conservative government party won an impressive victory in the British parliamentary elections, although the Laborites succeeded in increasing the Conservative majority in the house by about 60 seats.

Baldwin himself was unopposed for re-election, but Ramsay MacDonald, lord president of the council and former prime minister, was badly defeated, as was his son, Malcolm, who has been minister of colonies. The elder MacDonald left the Labor party to form the national government, and the Laborites had been after his scalp ever since. The government party will have a majority of about 250 in the next house of commons.

"It was a splendid result," Baldwin said in a statement. "The country has renewed its support of the national government. It has expressed decisively its confidence in our will and ability to continue our work for national restoration and world peace."

The newly elected members of parliament met at Westminster on November 26 to take their oath of allegiance to the crown. This procedure will occupy three days after which commons will adjourn until December 3 when King George will open the new parliament.

Clash in North China Is Imminent

WITH everything prepared for the proclamation of autonomy of North China, there was almost the certainty of serious fighting in that region between the troops of the Chinese National government and the forces of autonomy movement leaders. It was reported in Tokyo that Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, virtual dictator of the National government, had mobilized 300,000 soldiers in the northern provinces, chiefly along the Lunghai railroad in Shantung. The Japanese officials would not say what action Japan might take if Chiang Kai-shek should move his forces farther northward, but they admitted there probably would be a serious battle.

Shanghai heard that several Japanese troop ships had reached Taku, 27 miles southeast of Tientsin, to block the approaches to that city. Japanese forces already were massed at Shanhaikwan, main gateway to northern China at the east end of the great wall.

Farm Mortgage Amendment Is Declared Illegal

LEGISLATION designed to replace the Prazier-Lemke farm mortgage moratorium act after that law was declared unconstitutional by the United States Supreme court, was itself declared illegal by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago.

The judges found, in effect, that the amendment adopted in August of 1935, reducing the moratorium period from five to three years, exceeded the powers of congress as did the original measure invalidated last May.

Bar Committee Upholds Liberty League Lawyers

NO CANON of ethics was violated by the lawyers' committee of the American Liberty league when it offered to defend gratis the constitutional rights of any citizen unable to pay fees for such defense. Moreover, the lawyers' committee is justified in preparing and disseminating "opinions upon legislation with particular reference to the constitutionality of such legislation."

Such is the opinion of the American Bar association's committee on professional ethics and grievances, given in response to a complaint made by C. N. Davie of Atlanta, Ga. The bar committee emphasized that it expressed "no opinion as to the soundness of the conclusions reached by the national lawyers' committee," and added:

"This group has organized and appears on the one side; a similar group may well organize and function on the other side. Such an eventuality is more to be desired than feared."

Filipino Commonwealth Is Established

SELF-GOVERNMENT became a reality for the Philippines on November 15, according to schedule, and it is now up to the islanders to utilize their independence wisely and safely, with only general supervision by the United States. In the presence of a great throng of distinguished persons in the magnificent legislative building at Manila, Manuel Quezon, veteran advocate of independence, was inaugurated as the first president of the commonwealth. Representing the United States were Vice President Garner, Speaker Byrns and a large party of senators and representatives with their wives. Many foreign governments sent unofficial observers, and the leading statesmen of the islands were present.

After Quezon had taken the oath of office, Sergio Osmena, vice president, and the members of the new unicameral legislature were sworn in.

President Roosevelt was personally represented by Secretary of War Dern, who made a pleasant speech and read the proclamation, simultaneously issued in Washington, terminating the old government of the islands and establishing the commonwealth government which is to lead to complete independence of the archipelago in 10 years. A cablegram of congratulation also was received from Mr. Roosevelt.

Business Is Encouraged by Secretary Roper

IF SECRETARY ROPER in addressing the Associated Grocery Manufacturers of America in New York was speaking with authoritative knowledge of the intentions of the administration, business may feel considerably reassured. He said "the breathing spell which we are now enjoying is to be the end of governmental regimentation." He declared business was the "scapegoat" of the depression and he upheld the profit system. Of Mr. Roosevelt's announcement of a "breathing spell," the secretary said:

"This declaration of the President is clear-cut and concrete. It means specifically that the basic program of reform has been completed. It means that business no longer needs to feel any uncertainty as to what may come in the future with respect to governmental measures."

According to a Washington dispatch in the New York Times, informal orders have been issued by President Roosevelt to administrative officials to cut federal expenditures under the 1937 budget to $500,000,000 less than the newly estimated total for 1938.

As a result, the dispatch says, the lives of many federal bureaus and agencies were reported to be hanging in the balance.

The economy wave is heightened by signs of better business, the Times says.

Some Industries Won't Be Co-Ordinated

MAJ. GEORGE L. BERRY, industrial co-ordinator of the New Deal, is having a hard time co-ordinating industries. An industry conference has been arranged for December 9 in Washington, but it is evident that some very considerable industries will not be represented. First, the Ford Motor company refused curtly to send a representative; then the Automobile Manufacturers' association objected to the affair, announcing its opposition to any revival of the NRA, though most of its members signed the old NRA code; and next came a sharp letter from the National Hardware Lumber association, one of the country's oldest and largest trade associations, flatly refusing to attend the conference. The letter, written by J. W. McClure of Chicago, secretary of the association's board of directors, labeled any attempt to impose a new NRA on industry as "impractical, unworkable, unenforceable, a menace to respect for all laws and therefore opposed to public interest."

Nevertheless, the conference will be held, and representatives of labor are expected to advocate a plan for licensing industry, a proposal that all government contractors comply with code provisions and the 30-hour week.

WILL PLEAD GUILTY

Mrs. Agnes Shearer, wife of William B. Shearer, State Treasury cashier charged with embezzlement, lost her composure in the Sacramento County Jail recently in an argument with her husband whether he should plead guilty or not. After the 74-year-old cashier had shouted that he was going to plead guilty, concluding with, "That's final," Mrs. Shearer sobbed, "No—no, you're not."

BRIDGE WORK PROGRESSES

A new phase of work has started on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge. With the two 28½ inch cables completed from San Francisco to the center anchorage, the placing of ton and a half cable bands at 30-foot intervals along the cables has begun. These bands will drop perpendicularly to the bridge decks and connect them with the two cables, which will support the weight of the two decks or floors of the bridge.

DIDN'T GET AROUND MUCH

THE person to ask whether the preparation you or your family are taking for the relief of headaches is SAFE to use regularly is your family doctor. Ask him particularly about GENUINE BAYER ASPIRIN.

He will tell you that before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin most "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as bad for the stomach and, often, for the heart. Which is food for thought if you seek quick, safe relief.

Scientists rate Bayer Aspirin among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and the pains of rheumatism, neuritis and neuralgia. And the experience of millions of users has proved it safe for the average person to use regularly. In your own interest remember this.

You can get Genuine Bayer Aspirin at any drug store—simply by asking for it by its full name, BAYER ASPIRIN. Make it a point to do this—and see that you get what you want.

Quick, Complete Pleasant ELIMINATION

Let's be frank. There's only one way for your body to rid itself of the waste matters that cause acidity, gas, headaches, bloated feelings and a dozen other discomforts—your intestines must function. To make them move quickly, pleasantly, completely, without griping, thousands of physicians recommend Milnesia Wafers. (Dentists recommend Milnesia wafers as an efficient remedy for mouth acidity.)

These mint flavored candy-like wafers are pure milk of magnesia. Each wafer is approximately equal to a full adult dose of liquid milk of magnesia. Chewed thoroughly in accordance with the directions on the bottle or tin, then swallowed, they correct acidity, bad breath, flatulence, at their source and at the same time enable quick, complete, pleasant elimination.

Milnesia Wafers come in bottles of 20 and 48 wafers, at 35c and 60c respectively, or in convenient tins containing 12 at 20c. Each wafer is approximately an adult dose of milk of magnesia. All good drug stores carry them. Start using these delicious, effective wafers today. Professional samples sent free to registered physicians or dentists if request is made on professional letter head.

VISITORS TO PADDY'S POND

THE hunter who was hiding near the pond of Paddy, the Beaver, hoping that Lightfoot, the Deer, would come back there and give him a chance for a shot, was a man of patience. Also he was a man who understood the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows. He knew that if he would not be seen he sat as motionless as if he were a part of the very log on which he was sitting. For some time there was no sign of any living thing. Then, from over the tree tops in the direction of the

So Mr. and Mrs. Quack Swam About Within Easy Range of That Terrible Gun.

Big River, came the whistle of swift wings, and Mr. and Mrs. Quack alighted with a splash in the pond. For a few moments they sat on the water, a picture of watchful suspicion. They were looking and listening to make sure that no danger was near. Satisfied at last, they began to clean their feathers. It was plain that they felt safe. Paddy, the Beaver, was tempted to warn them that they were not as safe as they thought, but as long as the hunter did not move, Paddy decided to wait.

Now the hunter was sorely tempted to shoot those ducks, but he knew that if he did he would have no chance that day to get Lightfoot, the Deer, and it was Lightfoot he wanted. So Mr. and Mrs. Quack swam about within easy range of that terrible gun without once suspecting that danger was anywhere near.

By and by the hunter's keen eyes caught a movement at one end of Paddy's dam. An instant later Bobby Coon appeared. It was clear that Bobby was quite unsuspecting. He had something, just what the hunter could not make out. He took it down to the edge of the water and there carefully washed it. Then he climbed up on Paddy's dam and began to eat. You know, Bobby Coon is very particular about his food. Whenever there is water near, Bobby washes his food before eating. Once more the hunter was tempted, but did not yield to the temptation, which was a very good thing for Bobby Coon.

All this Lightfoot, the Deer, saw as he stood among the little hemlock trees at the top of the ridge behind the hunter. He saw and he understood. "It is because he wants to kill me that he doesn't shoot at Mr. and Mrs. Quack or Bobby Coon," thought Lightfoot, a little bitterly. "What have I ever done that he should be so anxious to kill me?"

Still the hunter sat without moving. Mr. and Mrs. Quack contentedly hunted for food in the mud at the bottom of Paddy's pond. Bobby Coon finished his meal, crossed the dam and disappeared in the Green Forest. He had gone off to take a nap somewhere. Time slipped away. The hunter continued to watch patiently for Lightfoot, and Lightfoot and Paddy, the Beaver, watched the hunter. Finally, another visitor appeared at the upper end of the pond: a visitor in a wonderful coat of red. It was Teddy Fox.

MOTHER'S COOK BOOK

FOOD SUGGESTIONS

A FRUIT cocktail is liked by such a large majority of people that it is usually served as a beginner for a luncheon or dinner. Fresh fruit is always the favorite, but now that canned grapefruit is available in almost any market, it, with other canned fruits, makes a most tasty cocktail. A canned pear, peach, a bit of pineapple with some of the fruit juice will make a most delectable cocktail. Sometimes the addition of a fresh orange will add to the flavor, with a cherry or two for color.

When something different is wanted for a vegetable try:

Celery au Gratin.

Cut the celery into small bits and cook in boiling salted water until tender but not too soft. Drain and place in a baking dish with a rich white sauce, a layer of each and top with the celery, covered with a half-inch top of buttered crumbs. Bake in a hot oven until the crumbs are brown. Add grated cheese for a more nourishing dish, which, if a cupful of cheese is used, will do for a main dish at luncheon.

One of these chill days serve fried salt pork with cream gravy, baked potatoes and onions and apples cooked together in a small amount of sweet fat. If the apples are very tart add a little sugar which will also add to the flavor and color. Cook the onions until about half done before adding the apples sliced. Serve as a vegetable.

The daily serving of lettuce, green vegetables such as cabbage, endive or cooked spinach or chard is most important for the health of the family.

Dress the lettuce simply with hot bacon fat and a dash of vinegar or lemon juice, or melted butter, hot. If bacon is not liked, then the old-fashioned way of serving lettuce with just sugar and vinegar is one of which few ever tire.

QUESTION BOX

by ED WYNN, The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn:

While walking yesterday I saw a man with a tin cup in his hand and a sign on his hat which read: "Please help the blind." I dropped 10 cents in his cup, then, looking at him, I saw he was only blind in one eye. Did I do wrong to give him a dime?

Yours truly,

MISS TAKEN.

Answer: You did wrong in giving him a dime. As he was only blind in one eye, you should have given him a nickel.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

My wife and I have saved up $40. Now she wants to buy a cow and I want to buy a bicycle. I claim she'll look funny riding around town on a cow. Am I right?

Truly yours,

WATTEL E. DEW.

Answer: She sure would look funny riding a cow, but no funnier than she'd look milking a bicycle.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I am a boy seventeen years of age. I am crazy about a girl my own age. I told my father that I was in love. He looked at me for a moment, then said: "My son, love is like a plate of hash!" He then walked away from me. What did he mean by comparing "love" with a "plate of hash"?

Truly yours,

WILL HUGH ANNSER.

Answer: He has experience, my boy. What he means is "you must have confidence in it to enjoy it."

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I have read a great deal about beauty doctors and so-called face lifters. Can you tell me the best way for an aging woman to keep "her good looking youth"?

Truly yours,

B. U. TEEFUL.

Answer: The best way for a woman to keep her "youth" is not to introduce "him" to any other women.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I am a boy twelve years of age and

THE BLIND POSTMAN

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

EACH day the mailman makes his round. His eyes forever on the ground. His mind forever on the past. For grief has found his heart at last. Each day the mailman has to bear. This new, this unaccustomed, care. And men behold in his hurt eyes. A look half sorrow, half surprise.

For grief has come and struck him down. The merry postman of the town. Who used to whistle up the street. And had his friends, and all things sweet.

And, in his eyes, with sorrow bent. Is something of astonishment. That such things happen, that one day. Can come and take so much away.

And yet for thirty years he bore. His missives to his neighbor's door. Black-bordered letters, or a page. Scrawled by the lonely hand of age. The pleading of some woman's heart. Who hears the faithless one depart— And yet within the mailman's eyes. The look is sorrow, and surprise.

Roasting the Thanksgiving Turkey

FIRST, select a plump, well-fattened turkey. Either a young or an old turkey can be made excellent eating, but you must know which you have, for it makes a difference in the way you cook it. Allow from one-half to three-quarters of a pound in the weight of the turkey as you buy it for each person to be served—remembering that in the larger kinds you will get more meat in that proportion to bone. With a 15-pound turkey, for instance, you can get 20 very generous servings.

The dealer will usually draw the turkey for you, but certain things have to be looked out for at home. Cut off the oil sac, take out the windpipe and lungs, pull out any pin feathers and singe off hairs. Do this quickly so as not to darken or scorch the skin. Wipe the body cavity with a soft cloth wrung out of cold water. Scrub the outside with a wet cloth and soda or corn meal. Rinse off quickly and wipe the bird dry inside and outside. Never let a turkey or any other poultry soak in water. You lose flavor and food value.

Rub the inside with salt before putting in the stuffing. Slip a crusty end slice of a loaf of bread into the opening near the tail to hold in the stuffing, tuck the legs under the band of skin left for that purpose, and saw up the slit with soft white twine. After stuffing and trussing the turkey, rub the outside all over with butter, salt and pepper and pat on flour. Lay a piece of turkey fat over the breast. Place on a rack in an open roasting pan. Do not put any water into the pan. Water in a roasting pan makes steam, and steam around a roasting turkey or any tender meat draws out the juices.

Have the oven hot (about 450° F.) when you put the turkey in. Brown it lightly for half an hour in this hot oven and after the first 15 minutes turn the bird with the breast down so it will brown all over. Then reduce the oven heat to very moderate (325° F.). To cool the oven down quickly leave the door open a few minutes. Turn the bird from time to time, basting it with turkey fat and butter.

If the turkey is young, continue the roasting at this moderate temperature with no lid on the pan until the bird is done. Baste with pan drippings about every half hour. In turning, be careful not to break the skin. A young 10-12 pound turkey will need about three hours in the oven.

For a turkey a year or more old, after browning in the hot oven, put the cover on the roaster, and continue the cooking in the moderate oven (about 325° F.). You will probably need to allow 4½ hours for a 15-pound bird a year or more old.

To test the "doneness" run a steel skewer or a cooking fork into the thigh next to the breast. If the juice does not show a red tinge, the turkey is done. Make gravy with the giblets and drippings.

The bureau of home economics, United States Department of Agriculture, which gives the foregoing suggestions, also supplies this recipe for a savory stuffing, and one for giblet gravy. For stuffing:

3 quarts dry bread crumbs	1 pint chopped celery
¾ cup fat, butter	2 tsp. salt
and turkey fat	1 to 2 tsp. savory seasoning
1 small onion, chopped	Pepper to taste
¾ cup chopped parsley

In the melted fat cook the onion, parsley and celery for a few minutes. Add the bread crumbs and seasonings and stir all together until the mixture is thoroughly heated. Pile the hot stuffing lightly into the turkey, but do not pack.

Giblet gravy: Simmer the giblets (liver, gizzard and heart) and the neck in one quart of water for about an hour. Drain the giblets and chop them fine, saving the broth. If there is too much fat on the drippings in the roaster, skim off some of the excess fat and leave about one-half cup. Into these pan drippings stir six level tablespoons of flour. Then gradually add the cool broth from the giblets and enough more cold water to make a thin smooth gravy. Cook for 5 minutes, add the chopped giblets and season to taste with salt and pepper.

MOVIES IN DARK AFRICA

The movies have penetrated far into the heart of West Africa, the natives having a passion for films of super-fervid melodrama, wild west exploits, murder, pillage and arson. Attempts have been made to infuse an element of moral uplift into their intellectual bill of fare and their conception of white humanity, but these efforts have met with a marked lack of appreciation.

IT WORKED FOR ME

Women should take only liquid laxatives

MORE people could feel fine, be fit and regular, if they would only follow the rule of doctors and hospitals in relieving constipation. Never take any laxative that is harsh in action. Or one, the dose of which can't be exactly measured. Doctors know the danger if this rule is violated. They use liquid laxatives, and keep reducing the dose until the bowels need no help at all.

Reduced dosage is the secret of aiding Nature in restoring regularity. You must use a little less laxative each time, and that's why it should be a liquid like Syrup Pepsin. Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if it doesn't give you absolute relief, if it isn't a joy and comfort in the way it overcomes biliousness due to constipation, your money back.

PROPERTY EVALUATION

One question that the man on the street has heard little about but which has been causing some concern behind the scenes in California is that of evaluation of property for taxing purposes, or what is known as establishing an "assessed value."

At present it is unquestionably true that too many varying methods of evaluation are being applied by assessors. For example, various kinds of goods are supposed to be assessed at the "actual value," another kind of property at its "face value," another at its "actual market value," and another at its "full cash value."

An article in the latest California Tax Digest sums the whole matter up admirably in the following sentences:

"It therefore becomes exceedingly important that there be some standardization of the methods of arriving at the value of property. It will no longer be sufficient for one county to determine the valuation of improvements on the theory of replacement costs less depreciation and other county to determine its improvements value by building permits or actual cost and to ignore let us say, depreciation. Not only must the assessors finally adopt uniform methods for arriving at the value of improvements, of land, and of personal property, but likewise the State Board of Equalization should adopt the same methods in order that we may have common understanding and thinking along the same lines as to methods of arriving at value. It is equally important that the same kind of property in the same ownership in several taxing jurisdictions receives identical treatment."

Obviously, something ought to be done about this.

Just 100 years ago the 30th of this month Mark Twain was born, and few characters ever equalled him in his day. He headed the list of contemporaries, such as Josh Billings, Bill Nye, Ambrose Bierce, Eugene Field, Bob Berdette, John Hay, James Whitcomb Riley and many others. While he was born in Missouri, he came west to California in 1861 and attempted to make his fortune mining gold, but the lure for writing humorous literature captured him and it soon made him famous. He had a charming, generous and genius style of originality both satirical and entertaining; not always what he said, but the way he said it. His education was limited, beginning life as a printer and drifting into newspaper work as a writer. This was when Samuel L. Clemens adopted his nom-de-plume, Mark Twain. The many books of his authorship stand out today with lasting favor. He was not only the most interesting literary figure, but also the best loved, altho he never dwelt in close or intimate terms with either art or letters. He had blue eyes under bushy brows, penetrating, inquiring and genial. His great mound of spreading, curly hair made him a distinguished likeness. He died in 1910.

Who knows what is wrapped in the life of any boy? Great promises await the average lad who might have the appearance of being a poor undernourished, ill-clad and disinterested street urchin, when given a chance. Many great men, editors, publishers of educators got their start as only a newsboy; thus it is, that few bank presidents made their beginning in life as a messenger boy. That strange ambition, with the intuitive to strive and win is a never-failing prize given every boy who wants to climb the ladder of success and fame. Nature made a law that we must hustle for ourselves if we would progress. That law is still in force and always will be. To be content to always play and never rise, is a sure sign of inefficiency when reaching the adult life. The plastic mind should be cultivated in the philosophy of life, which enables one to face the future unafraid and determined.

California recently had a thorough drenching, that proverbial "million dollar rain," and soil and vegetation has been given a great soaking with marvelous abundance benefit. The late fall rains not only bring a wealth of good to the country, but it returns also to us that mellow sunshine and distilled air that gives a rich and health-strengthening climate which no physician's potion can equal. The Golden State is one of the most ideal and perfect semi-tropical lands in the world. To be so favored, when the eastern and middle-west states have gone into "winter quarters," is happy privilege to contemplate. California splendor reveals itself in autumn time, but certain harvest will go on both winter and summer. There are advantages to enjoy and improve continually, making every day a holiday for all so fortunate as to be a citizen of our great commonwealth.

A glance over the country, especially California and the southland in particular, reveals an astonishing building campaign going on. It is the most encouraging sign of recovery yet manifested and unless crazy politics fires a monkey-wrench into the machinery of progress, there is hope of a permanent building recovery. A famine of dwelling places has been a social embarrassment for some years, and the sound of the hammer and saw is the best music to be heard. From indications there is a million new homes and other living units to be constructed in the United States within the next two years. Of these 300,000 will go up in 1936, the remainder in 1937. California is already doing its share toward meeting this situation and has enlisted in the splendid movement.

Once again the Washington Naval Orange adorns the counters of the market place, and already the first Eastern shipments have gone for the Thanksgiving Day festivities. Nothing compares with the old familiar naval, which has been developed and cultivated over a period of some 70 years, and holds the championship of all citrus varieties. California, especially the southland, is probably the greatest citrus-producing section in the world. The potential capacity of this great Southwestern Empire to produce, not only oranges, but every kind of vegetable products is almost unlimited. The orange industry alone has brought more wealth and health to California than all the gold mined in the state since 1848, and is still going strong!

Point Loma High School News.

Forty Thanksgiving baskets were donated by the students of the Point Loma High school. Each home room contributed a well balanced meal and any extras desired.

The junior high school students presented their baskets Tuesday and the senior high students on Wednesday. The president and vice president of each home room took the basket to the stage as the groups were named. The Girls' League assisted the school nurse in checking the baskets and putting the names on. The boys of the Hi-Y delivered the baskets. These organizations have been responsible for these duties since the school began ten years ago.

An appropriate program preceded the giving of the baskets. Gypsy Life—Schumann, and Chinese Lullaby from East to West—Bowers, were sung by the Girls' Glee club. Soloists for the Gypsy Life were: Tuesday, Patty Stose and Norma Palmer; Wednesday, Mary Jane St John and Grace Oliver.

The Rev. Walter Dunn addressed the assembly Tuesday. Wednesday the senior high students heard the Rev. James H. Hughes. A community sing closed the basket presentation ceremonies.

POULTRY HELPS.

By E. E. Steele.

Fowl typhoid is an infectious disease which attacks the blood and internal organs similar to cholera, it also spreads through a flock like cholera, but is not so destructive as acute cholera.

The symptoms are similar to cholera treatment is the same as cholera. Kill the diseased birds and try to prevent the spread of the disease.

The disease is caused by eberthella sanguinaria, a micro-organism which is introduced on the premises by carriers.

Post-mortem—The intestines are pale, the blood is thin, pale red and does not clot readily, the liver is greatly enlarged, generally dotted with gray spots and breaks easily. The spleen is swollen, and has gray spots, the kidneys are enlarged and light in color or slightly injected with blood, the heart is sometimes normal but more often pale with gray spots.

Interesting History Of California Counties

Believing that the thousands of tourists who annually motor over the state's great highway system would like to know how the counties they visit came by their names, Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly, at the request of Governor Frank F. Merriam, has had prepared from state records a series of brief stories of the origin and meaning of the names of the counties of California including a few salient facts about each county.

—Editor.

Mariposa County.—Created February 18, 1850. One of the original twenty-seven counties of the state. The county took its name from the Mariposa river. The meaning of "Mariposa" in Spanish is "butterfly". There is some doubt as to how this stream derived its name. According to one story, in June, 1807, a party of Californians from the San Joaquin Valley made one of their annual excursions into the Sierra Nevada mountains for the purpose of hunting elk. Camping upon the banks of a river, they were charmed and delighted with the butterflies of most variegated and gorgeous colors that hovered around them in countless numbers, and because of this they gave to the stream the name "Mariposa". Another beautiful story, and probably more authentic, is that the first explorers in the mountains of that region beheld for the first time a pretty lily growing everywhere, gay-colored and spotted and in some respects resembling the wings of a butterfly. In their admiration, they gave to this dainty flower, the Calochortus, the name of Mariposa (butterfly) lily.

Mariposa is known as the "Mother of Counties" because it once comprised one-seventh of California's area. Here is the world-famous Yosemite Valley. The county embraces magnificent mountains, extensive forests, flower-strewn mountain meadows, cool canyons and sparkling streams. It is host to a greater number of tourists than any other county.

Not only is the scenery unsurpassed, but large ranches produce fine strains of hogs, sheep and cattle, grain and hay, mountain vegetables and fruits, and mining plays an important part in the industrial life and wealth of Mariposa. The old Mariposa mine has produced more than $7,000,000 in gold and the Princeton mine $5,000,000. Ore in the Spread Eagle runs about $10,000 to the ton. Here is the great Exchequer Dam, 350 feet high, 960 feet long, with a carrying capacity of 75,000 second-feet and backing the waters of Merced River up for 12 miles. Population 3233. Area 1463 square miles.

Mendocino County.—One of the original twenty-seven counties of California. The County derived its name from Cape Mendocino, which was discovered and named by Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo in 1542, and named for Don Antonio de Mendoza, the first Viceroy of New Spain, or Mexico, appointed by the King of Spain in 1535.

Magnificent Mendocino, in the Redwood Empire, is noted as a paradise for the tourist, vacationist and sportsman. In the empire as a whole are nearly 2000 miles of trout streams, many miles of ocean and surf fishing and game in abundance. Approximately 97 per cent of the world's redwoods are here, and the Redwood Highway thru the county has the company of these giant trees for 100 miles. Salmon caught in the coast waters are shipped to all parts of the world.

Lumbering and commercial fisheries are Mendocino's principal industries. Ukiah, Potter, Round and Little Lake valleys are among the most productive agricultural areas in the state. Mendocino ranks fifth in the production of apples, eighth in pears, thirteenth in plums and prunes and tenth in juice grapes. Principal industries on the coast are lumbering, stockraising, dairying, fruit raising, general farming and fishing. The Union Lumber Company at Fort Bragg is the third largest manufacturer of redwood lumber in the

THE THEOSOPHICAL SOCIETY: POINT LOMA

"Heavens or Hells: Facts of Superstitions?" will be the topic on which Abbott Clark will speak at Theosophical headquarters, Sunday, December first.

Clark will explain the ancient and also the Theosophical teaching about the after-death states; that there are appropriate places for the exanimate entity after death where he experiences for a time and before returning to earth-life conditions he himself has made for himself, and which may be likened to states of consciousness of a 'heavenly' or 'hellish' nature. This doctrine has given rise to the false teaching current for so many centuries in the west of a heaven or a hell as enduring locations and conditions, which Theosophy flatly denies. Clark will elucidate this teaching. The facts of the afterlife, as revealed by sages of antiquity, are of vast moral importance to the living human beings on earth, for they show that as a man thinketh in his heart so he—here and hereafter.

Mrs. Irene Ponsby will assist in answering questions.

OCTOBER GASOLINE TAX IS $4,437,321.92

Sacramento, November 22.—Smashing all previous records, California gasoline taxes for October amounted to $4,437,321.92, according to announcement made here today by R. E. Collins, of Redding, chairman of the State Board of Equalization. This marked a gain of $1,016,941.96, or 29.73 per cent over the corresponding figure for the same month of last year.

world. Population: 23,505. Area: 3539 square miles.

Merced County.—Created April 19, 1855. This county derived its name from the Merced River, which originally was named by the Spanish "Rio de Nuestra Senora de la Merced" meaning "the river of Our Lady of Mercy".

Merced occupies a most strategic location. It is approximately in the center of the state and in the heart of the San Joaquin Valley. The county has 3830 farms with a total acreage of 829,377. Highways and roads total 200 miles. Diversity of agricultural products, fine cattle, the largest peach and apricot orchards, largest seedless raisin vineyards, abundance of water and a natural gateway to Yosemite National Park are features for which the county is noted.

Merced has more than 318,722 acres under irrigation, ranking fourth in the state. More than 1500 miles of canals carry water to rich and productive soils, the systems representing an investment of $25,000,000. Dairying accounts for 50 per cent of the county's income. One lumber mill at Merced Falls, near Merced, has an annual lumber cut of over 50,000,000 feet annually, with a payroll in excess of $1,000,000. In addition to rail lines, Merced has 237 miles of hard-surfaced highways, while 1750 miles of good, graded roads reach every section of the county. Population: 36,748. Area: 1995 square miles.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

Services of Thanksgiving were conducted on Thursday in Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon was "Thanksgiving" and the words of the Psalmist, "Offer unto God thanksgiving; and pay thy vows unto the most High," constituted the Golden Text.

The Scriptural selections in the lesson-sermon included these verses from the epistle to the Hebrews: "Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and to day, and for ever.... By him therefore let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruit of our lips giving thanks to his name. But to do good and to communicate forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased."

One of the correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: "To keep the commandments of our Master and follow his example, is our proper debt to him and the only worthy evidence of our gratitude for all that he has done.... The habitual struggle to be always good is unceasing prayer."

Testimonies appropriate for the occasion were given by Christian Scientists in the congregations.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"Search me, O God, and know my heart: try me, and know my thoughts: and see if there be any wicked way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting." These words of the Psalmist constitute the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Christian Science churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The Lesson-Sermon denounces ancient and modern necromancy, alias mesmerism and hypnotism.

A Scriptural selection in the Lesson-Sermon cites these verses from Isaiah: "Who hath formed a god, or molten a graven image that is profitable for nothing? Behold, all his fellows shall be ashamed; and the workmen, they are of men: let them all be gathered together; let them stand up; yet they shall fear, and they shall be ashamed together."

One of the correlative passages from the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, says: "The five material senses testify to truth and error as united in a mind both good and evil. Their false evidence will finally yield to Truth,—to the recognition of Spirit and of the spiritual creation."

BAPTIST CHURCH SERVICES

The Unremoved Cup" will be the theme of the pastor's sermon, this Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Following the sermon the Lord's Supper will be observed.

Special music by the choir. At 7:30 p. m. there will be a service of song and the pastor will speak on the subject "The Carpenter's Son."

You are cordially invited to the services of this church.

The monthly meeting of the teachers and officers of the Bible school will be held this Wednesday evening, at 6 o'clock. Supper will be served promptly at 6:30. Mrs. A. Mulville the superintendent will preside, and urges every member to attend as there is important matters to come before the meeting.

Community Night at Ocean Beach School

Citizens of Ocean Beach are urged to attend a community night which has been planned for Tuesday, Dec. 3 at 7 p. m. in the school auditorium to discuss the proposed earthquake reconstruction program for the San Diego City schools, which every citizen must face as a community responsibility.

A speaker from the citizens school safety committee will talk on the plans that have been formulated to protect the lives of our school children.

Ray Reynolds, Ocean Beach resident and member of the city school board, will be speaker of the meeting.

The session will be in charge of the Ocean Beach Kiwanis club and every civic organization at the beach is invited to take part.

PROOFS OF REINCARNATION

The swift change from the vacuity of the infant mind in the fraction of a century to the intellectual power of the adult is not the creation of something but its Manifestation—The Coming Through Into Visible Expression Of That Which Already Exists. The soul, the consciousness, the real man, consisting of the whole of the mental and emotional nature, which has been built up through years of evolution is coming once more to rebirth to visible expression in a materials body.

On Thursday, December 5th at 8 p. m. the Ocean Beach Theosophical club will meet at the club home, 1940 Abbott street with Mrs. Mora Forbes as the chairman to consider various proofs of reincarnation. All interested persons are welcome and their questions will gladly be answered.

TELEPHONE SERVICE GOES ALONG AS HOUSE IS MOVED

When a two-story frame house was moved the entire length of a city block in Washington, D. C., not long ago, not only did the occupants remain in the house as usual, but telephone service was maintained for the comfort and convenience of the family during the moving process, which took over four days.

The house was moved from one corner of Blaine Street, N. E., Washington, to the corner at the other end of the block. Continuous telephone service was made possible by connecting one end of a coil of wire with the wire entering the house, and the other end of the coil with the cable terminal. As the house made its slow progress along the street, the wire uncoiled automatically, and when it was settled on the new site, the permanent telephone connections were made with the cable terminal.

Keen Imagination Sure

Check on Unkind Acts

A keen imagination is the surest check upon all unkind conduct. Happily, it is the very rare exception when anyone intends to be unkind. Most persons, however culpable, would indignantly deny the imputation. It is usually because they fail to realize the suffering they inflict; they are deficient in that power which depicts the pain of another to their own sensibilities.

There are many hearts now hard and callous that might be rendered tender and pitiful could their imaginative faculty be so developed as to make them conscious of the distress they carelessly produce.

If you are suffering from constipation, sleeplessness, sour stomach, and gas bloating, there is quick relief for you in Adlerika. Many report action in 30 minutes after taking just one dose. Adlerika gives complete action, cleaning your bowel tract where ordinary laxatives do not even reach.

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adlerika checks the growth of intestinal bacteria and colon bacilli." Give your stomach and bowels a real cleansing with Adlerika and see how good you feel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and chronic constipation. Sold by all druggists and drug departments.

SHIFTING SANDS

SYNOPSIS

The youthful and comely "Widder" Marcia Howe has as her guest her late husband's niece, Sylvia Hayden. A stranger, exhausted, finds his way to Marcia's home. Secretly, he asks her to hide a package containing jewelry. She does so. Elisha Winslow, town sheriff, brings news of a jewel robbery nearby. The stranger gives his name as Stanley Heath. Sylvia discovers the jewels, and naturally believes Heath is a robber, but, for Marcia's sake, decides to say nothing. Marcia feels she has altogether too deep an interest in her guest, but is powerless to overcome it. Heath wires "Mrs. S. C. Heath," New York, saying he is safe. He also orders a man named Currier to come at once. Sylvia, in her room, bedsacks herself with the jewels. At Marcia's approach she hides them there. Heath asks Marcia to bring them to him. They are gone! He makes light of the loss. Sylvia restores the jewels to their original hiding place. Elisha Winslow discovers them and has no doubt they are the stolen gems, and Heath is a thief. Leaving the jewels, he makes plans for arresting Heath. Currier arrives. Marcia overhears Heath describe how he acquired the gems, and is forced to believe him guilty of theft. At Heath's suggestion, Currier investigates the hiding place—and finds the gems! He returns to New York with them, but his references to "Mrs. Heath" have convinced Marcia her tender dream has been a foolish one. Elisha and Currier come to arrest Heath. Marcia is indignant, and unwittingly reveals to Sylvia the secret of her love. The jewels, of course, are not to be found. To Sylvia Marcia admits she loves Heath and has faith in his innocence. She tells him she believes him innocent, but urges him, if he is guilty, to confess. He admits nothing.

"Not your real life. You would, of course, lose standing among your supposed friends; but you would not lose it among those whose regard went deeper. Even if you did—what would it matter?"

"But to be alone, friendless! Who would help me piece together the mangled fragments of such a past—for I should need help; I could not do it alone? Do you imagine that in all the world there would be even one person whose loyalty and affection would survive so acid a test? Do you know of anyone?"

She leaped to her feet. "Why do you ask me?" she demanded, the gentleness of her voice chilling to curtness. "You have such a helpmate near you—or should have."

"I don't understand," pleaded the man, puzzled by her change of mood.

"Perhaps we'd better not go into that now," was her response. "I must go."

"Wait just a moment."

"I cannot. I must get dinner."

"Never mind the dinner! Sometimes there are things more important."

"To think of a man saying that!"

The ring of the telephone chimed in with her silvery laughter.

"I'll go, Sylvia," she called with a promptness that indicated the interruption was a welcome one.

"It's long distance," she called to Heath. "Mrs. Heath wishes to speak with you. Slip on your bathrobe and come."

Heath took the receiver from her hand.

"Joan? This certainly is good of you, dear. Yes, I am much better, thank you. Bless your precious heart, you needn't worry. Currier will be back late tonight or early tomorrow morning and he will tell you how well I am progressing. Yes, he has the jewels. Put them in the safe right away, won't you?"

"I can't say when I shall be home. Something has come up that may keep me here some time. I cannot explain just now. It is the thing you have always predicted would happen to me sometime. Well, it has happened. Do you get that? Yes, I am caught—hard and fast. It is a bit ironic to have traveled all over the world and then be taken captive in a small Cape Cod village. I'll let you know the first minute I have anything definite to tell."

"Good-by, dear. Take care of yourself. It's done me a world of good to hear your voice."

Heath returned the receiver to its hook and in high spirits strode back into his room.

Marcia's chair was empty. She was nowhere to be seen.

CHAPTER X

The days immediately following were like an armed truce.

Marcia watched Sylvia. Sylvia watched Marcia. Heath watched them both.

When, however, no further reference to the events of the past week was made, the tension slowly began to lessen, and life at the Howe Homestead took on again its customary aspect.

Stanley Heath, warmly wrapped in rugs, now sat out on the sheltered veranda where he reveled in the sunshine.

Sometimes when he lay motionless in the steamchair looking seaward beneath the rim of his soft felt hat, or following the drifting gulls with preoccupied gaze Marcia, peeping at him from the window wondered of what he was thinking.

That the fancies which intrigued him were pleasant and that he enjoyed his own company there could be no question.

No attitude he might have assumed could have been better calculated to dispel awkwardness and force into the background the seriousness of the two women, whose interests were so inextricably entangled with his own, than the merry, bantering one he adopted when with them.

He was a brilliant talker—one who gave unexpected, original twists to the conversation—twists that, taxed one's power of repartee. Here indeed was a hitherto undreamed-of Stanley Heath, a man whose dangerous charms had multiplied a hundredfold and who, if he had captivated Marcia before now riveted her fetters with every word he spoke, every glance he gave her.

She struggled to escape from the snare closing in on her, then finding combat useless, ceased to struggle and let herself drift with the tide.

After all, why not enjoy the present?

In loving this stranger of whom she knew so little, she had set her heart upon a phantom that she knew must vanish. The future, grim with foreboding, was constantly drawing nearer.

There were, alas, but two ways of life—the way of right and the way of wrong, and between them lay no neutral zone. This she acknowledged with her mind. But her rebel heart would play her false, flouting her puritan codes and defying the creeds that conscience dictated.

Meantime while Marcia thus wrestled with the angel of her best self, Sylvia accepted the situation with characteristic lightness. She knew more already about men than did Marcia—much more. Long ago they had ceased to be gods to her. She jested fearlessly with Heath, speaking a language with which he was familiar and one that amused him no end.

Marcia felt jealousy clutching at her heart.

One day, passing through the hall, she saw Sylvia's golden head bent over the table as she dashed off page after page of a closely written letter.

It was a pity the elder woman could not have read that letter, for it would not only have astonished but also have enlightened her and perhaps quieted the beating of her troubled heart.

It was a letter that astonished Sylvia herself. Nevertheless, much as it surprised her, her amazement in no way approached that of young Horatio Fuller when he read it.

Now, Horatio's mother was a woman of colorless, vaguely defined personality indicative of little guile and still less determination. She listened well, never interrupted; never offered comment or advice; never promised anything; and yet when she said, as she invariably did, "I'll talk with your father, dear," there was always infinite comfort in the observation.

That was what she said today after a conversation with Horatio Junior.

Accordingly that evening after Horatio Senior had dined, and dined well, Mrs. Horatio gently imparted to Alton City's leading citizen the intelligence that his son, Horatio Junior, wished to go east; that he was in love; that, in short, he wished to marry.

Horatio Senior raged; he tramped the floor; he heaped on the head of the absent Horatio Junior every epithet of reproach his wrath could devise, the phrases driving him to the door, and audacious puppy appearing to afford him the greatest measure of relief.

At last when breathless and panting Horatio Senior, like an alarm clock, ran down and sank exhausted into his chair, Mrs. Horatio ventured the irrefutable observation that after all Horatio Junior was their only child, and Sylvia Hayden was a nice little thing. This drew fire.

Horatio Senior sputtered something about "nothing but a penniless school-teacher—a nobody."

Very deliberately then Mrs. Horatio murmured pleasantly that if she remembered rightly this had been the very objection Horatio Senior's father had made to their own marriage.

At this Horatio Senior flushed scarlet and said promptly that his marriage had been ideal; that his Jennie had been the one wife in the world for him; that time had proved it—even to his parents; that she was the only person on earth who really understood him.

After this nothing was simpler than to discuss just when Horatio Junior had better start east.

Had Sylvia dreamed when she licked the envelope's flap with her small red tongue and smoothed it down with her pretty white finger she was thus loosing Alton City's thunderbolts, she might, perhaps, have hesitated to send the letter she had penned and perhaps would not have started off so jauntily late that afternoon to post it.

Toward six o'clock she telephoned she was at the Doones and Henry and his mother—the little old lady she had met on the train the day she arrived—wanted her to stay to supper. He would bring her home early in the evening. There would be a moon—Marcia need not worry.

Marcia had not thought of worrying until that minute, but now, in spite of knowing Sylvia was safe and in good hands she began, paradoxically enough, to worry madly. Timidly as a girl she summoned Stanley Heath to the small, round table.

"Sylvia isn't coming," she explained, all blushes. "She telephoned she was going to stay over in town."

They seated themselves.

It was the first time they had ever been alone at a meal.

"My, but you are a marvelous cook," Heath remarked, during the progress of the meal.

"Oh, not really. You're hungry—that's all. Things taste good when you are."

"It isn't that. Everything you put your hand to is well done. You're a marvelous person, Marcia."

"You are talking foolishness."

"Every man, talks foolishness once in his life, I suppose. Perhaps I am talking it tonight because our time together is so short. I am leaving here tomorrow morning."

"Stanley!"

Across the table he caught her hand.

"I am well now and have no further excuse for imposing on your hospitality. I have accepted every manner of kindness from you—"

"Don't call it that," she interrupted.

"What else can I call it? I was a stranger and you took me in. It was sweet of you—especially when you knew nothing about me. Now the time has come for me to go. Tomorrow morning I am giving myself up to the Wilton sheriff."

"Oh, no—no!"

"It is the only square thing to do, isn't it?"

He rose and came to her side, slipping an arm about her.

"Marcia, dearest! I am doing what you wish, am I not? You wanted me to go through with it."

She covered her face and he felt a shudder pass over her.

"Yes. But that was then," she whispered.

At the words, he drew her to her feet and into his arms.

"Marcia, beloved! I love you—love you with all my heart—my soul—all that is in me. You know it—know that every moment we have been together has been heaven. Tell me you love me, dear—for you do love me. Don't deny it—not tonight—our last night together. Say that you love me."

"You—know," she faltered, her arms creeping about his neck.

He kissed her then—her hair, her eyes, her neck, her lips—long, burning kisses that left her quivering beneath the rush of them.

Their passion brought her to her self and she drew away.

"What is it, dear?" he asked.

"We can't. We must not. Something stands between us—we have no right. Forgive me."

"But my dear—"

"We have no right," she repeated.

"We must not love."

"But we do, sweetheart," was his triumphant cry. "We do!"

"We must forget."

"Can you forget?" he reproached.

"I—I can try."

"Ah, your tongue is too honest, Marcia. You cannot forget. Neither can

I. Our pledge is given. We belong to one another. I shall not surrender what is mine—never."

"Tomorrow—"

"Let us not talk of tomorrow."

"We must. We shall be parted then."

"Only for a little while. I shall come back to you. Our love will hold. Absence, distance, nothing can part us—not really. Tell me you love me so I may leave knowing the truth from your own sweet lips."

"I love you, Stanley—God help me!"

"Ah, now I can go! It will not be for long."

"It must be for ever, dear heart. You must not come back. Tonight must be the end."

"You mean you cannot face tomorrow—the disgrace—"

"I mean tonight must be the end," she reiterated.

Through narrowed lids, he looked at her, scanning her averted face.

Then she heard him laugh bitterly, discordantly.

"I have, apparently, expected too much of you. I might have known it would be so. All women are alike. They desert a man when he needs them most. The prospect of sharing my shame is more than you can bear."

Again he laughed. "Well, tonight shall be the end—tonight—now. Don't think I blame you. It is not your fault. I merely rated you too high, Marcia. The mistake was mine—not yours."

He left her then.

Stunned by the torrent of his reproach, she stood motionless, watching while, without a backward glance, he passed into the hall and up the stairs.

Even after he was out of sight, she remained immovable, her frightened eyes riveted on the doorway through which he had disappeared.

Age of Yellowstone's Springs 14,000 Years

Because Yellowstone park's hot springs deposit travertine, a limestone like substance containing minute quantities of radium, it is possible to ascertain their ages, according to Prof. Herman Schlundt, of the University of Missouri. The amount of radium varies according to the age of the deposit.

Professor Schlundt has determined the extinct springs atop Terrace mountain to be 14,000 years old. Liberty cap, the cone of an extinct hot spring, is about 2,500 years old, and Hotel Terrace about 3,200.—Literary Digest.

KOSCIUSZKO'S TOMB

The tomb of Kosciuszko, who served as Washington's adjutant during the Revolutionary war, is now a vault of the Cathedral of Cracow, in Poland. Every year hundreds of Americans visit it and the huge mound of earth which the Polish people built to honor him. The dirt for the mound was brought by peasants from all over the country in their long-flowing sleeves and aprons.

"Better baking at a saving—that counts in this family!"

SAYS MRS. W. W. HICKEY, OF CHICAGO, ILL.

"I'm paying the lowest prices ever for Calumet Baking Powder!"

"CAKES AND COOKIES just disappear in my big family," laughs Mrs. Hickey. "So it's a big help when I can get a full-pound can of my reliable, standby baking powder, Calumet, for only 25c! As long as I bake, Calumet will be in my pantry!"

Grandfather Rommel, who was a baker for 40 years, says, "Calumet takes the guesswork out of the job nowadays."

LOOK AT THE NEW CALUMET CAN! A simple twist... and the Easy-Opening Top lifts off. No delay, no spilling, no broken fingernails!

WHAT makes Calumet so dependable? Why is it different from other baking powders? Calumet combines two distinct leavening actions. A quick action for the mixing bowl—set free by liquid. A slower action for the oven—set free by heat. This Double-Action produces perfect leavening.

New! Big 10¢ Can!

Calumet is now selling at the lowest prices in its history... The regular price of the Full-Pound Can is now only 25c! And ask to see the new 10c can—a lot of good baking for a dime—with Calumet, the Double-Acting Baking Powder. A product of General Foods.

EULBERG FAMILY APPRECIATE NEWS FROM OCEAN BEACH

Colfax, Calif., Nov. 19, 1935
Dear Editor:

Please send the good old Ocean Beach News to Colfax, California. We certainly couldn't get along without it. Hearing the news every week, keeps us in touch with every one. We certainly are enjoying ourselves here, also playing with the real gold and a few nuggets. The scenery here is grand, different kinds of trees grow on the mountain side with the stream flowing thru makes it a wonderful picture. Had two days of real snow, a little cool, altho it kept us stepping around a little lively than usual, but any way our toes didn't turn black. Well Mr. Editor hope everything is going fine at the beach keep up the good work. As ever your Ocean Beach neighbors,
Mr. and Mrs. Henry Eulberg,
Colfax, California.

Five New Houses Started This Week

Five permits for new homes in Ocean Beach were granted this week and also one addition of consequence to help in the general advancement which has been made by this section this year.

Walter Lamb on Friday last had ground broken on his newly acquired Narragansett avenue lot for a $3,500 residence and garage.

Harry and Mrs. Bickford of Muir avenue have bought two lots on Abbott street and are building two modern stucco cottages.

Mat F. Heller let the contract for a $2,000 stucco cottage and garage at 4681 Green street.

Bertha M. Freney received permit for the building of an $1,800 cottage and garage of frame construction at 4880 Brighton avenue.

Robert Wayne, 4667 Cape May avenue, has the permit for a $1450 addition at that address.

SAFETY RECORD
The H6 class in Mr. Robinson's room feels justifiably proud of its safety record since it has achieved more letters toward its safety banner than has any other class in the school. The class now has all the letters in the word "S-A-F-E-T-Y" and the first letter of "Helpers".

BEACH PICNIC
Mrs. Schilling's fourth graders took lunches and had a picnic on the beach Monday noon. After lunch, the class played ball. At 1 p. m. they went for a walk along the water's edge.

The outing was in connection with the Social Studies unit being worked out by the group, "Recreational Life in California".

As the child's immediate surroundings are the best starting point for this study, the beach was chosen as one phase of California recreation.

DEBATE
The 6B Social Science committees are working on a debate: Resolved, that city life has more advantages than country life. Robert Wegewood is the leader of the affirmative side, and Ethel France Haynes of the negative side.

CAMPFIRE
Wanda Huta campfire girls of Ocean Beach school were hostesses last Friday to Miss Ruth Sohler, the school nurse, who showed them how to read a clinical thermometer and how to change a bed for an invalid.

BANK BANNER
Primary children seem to be carrying off the banking honors. Miss Van Horn's room has had the banner in its room three times. The kindergarten managers managed to carry it off week before last. This week the second graders in Mrs. Karl's room has the high percentage of bankers.

LATH HOUSE
The lath house and flower garden belonging to the Ocean Beach fifth grade have been cared for the past month by the following committee: Billy Davey, Charles Goeb, Jane Richley and Joan Oliver.

They report everything growing nicely especially in the lath house. They request children to be thoughtful and not break plants in the garden.

The children of the L5-H5 grade of the Ocean Beach school have fixed a beautiful basket of fruit, vegetables, jelly, and canned foods for some less fortunate family as a Thanksgiving offering.

Geo. M. Jacobsen, vicar of Lutheran Mission, left Monday for Stockton, California to take charge of Thanksgiving services. He will return for Sunday service of Dec. 8.

HARD OF HEARING FOLKS ENJOY GETTING TOGETHER

The pot luck dinner held by the hard of hearing and the deaf on Nov. 21st was well attended and everyone had a good time and a very interesting class meeting. The new term begins Dec. 3rd and a larger attendance is very much desired. It is very worth while for those handicapped to attend these classes under the very able instruction given by Mrs. M. E. Lynn. She is very thorough and painstaking to have her pupils progress as rapidly as possible.

increased property value to the owners. Tourists wishing to remain here and make San Diego their permanent residence would not be held back by the fear of lack of protection in school buildings for their children. Mr. Gue also said that the purpose of the election had been gone over by over 100 organizations and had been approved 100 percent. The work could be done at once supervised by local, state and government engineers under drawn up standards thus assuring triple supervision.

It is interesting to compare the estimated cost of $4,185,000 needed to correct all structural weaknesses in San Diego's school buildings with the present value of $5,707,432 and equipment at $425,791.

At the recent bond election held in Los Angeles to appropriate money to repair their school buildings, the bonds carried by the strong margin of 3 to 1. Oakland, San Francisco, Alameda, Long Beach, Santa Barbara, Glendale, Alhambra, Santa Monica and Pasadena have already engaged in programs of reconstruction or are taking steps to do so. The State as a whole realizes that the compulsory attendance of children in structures not known to be absolutely safe and their congregation in large groups helps to increase the danger wherein the responsibility of a community is to provide for their safety.

To sum it all up then it is important to decide whether or not the voter believes the danger of earthquakes is great enough to warrant the cost of protection estimated at $2,500,000 supplemented by a 45 percent gift of funds from the Federal government. The application to the government has already been made for the 45 percent but a bond issue to guarantee the district's share of the cost is necessary before the government will give further consideration to the project. The issue is now left squarely up to the voters of San Diego to decide whether such an expenditure should be given full approval. Remember the date—Dec. 10th at your local school building.
